A bill for the relief of John H. Behan passed the House Tuesday. It had come back from the claims committee without recommendation. Behan, in 1890, cashed a voucher for Thomas Halleck, a hold-over prison commissioner, for his quarter's salary, amounting to $352.50. This, with the interest, now amounts to $598.50. This is said to be the last of the claims of this class.

A young man named Saza accidentally shot and killed his brother Juan in Tempe last Monday. Under the circumstances no blame can attach to the young Mexican lad.

THE MORE COUNTERFEITING.
The Secret Service has unearthed another band of counterfeiters and secured a large quantity of bogus bills, which are no cleverly executed that the average person would never suspect them of being spurious. Things of great value are always selected by counterfeiters for imitation, notably the celebrated Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which has many imitators but no equals for indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, nervousness and general debility. The Bitters sets things right in the stomach, and when the stomach is in good order, it makes good blood and plenty of it. In this manner the Bitters get at the seat of strength and vitality, and restore vigor to the weak and debilitated. Beware of counterfeiters when buying.

One on Uncle Billy.

Uncle Billy Plaster, like most people who have arrived at a mature age, has a hobby on which he is more or less "touchy." Uncle Billy's pet hobby is Texas, which he considers about the best place on earth, and hopes that when he dies his soul may be assigned to the precincts of the storied Alamo. Some months ago Uncle Billy was foreman of the grand jury at Tombstone when the case of a young man who had robbed the lodging house of Mary Tack of a number of blankets came before the inquisitorial body. Mary was a witness before the jury, and after answering several questions volunteered the statement that she did not wish to prosecute the boy, as "he was from Texas and could not help stealing." This was a stunner for Uncle Billy, and if Mary had known it, a critical moment for her. After Uncle Billy had recovered from his astonishment at the, to him, almost blasphemous sentiment he roared out, "Turn the son of a gun loose."—[Bisbee Record.]

A number of years ago when the editor of the TRIBUNE was in the cattle business in the foothills of the Huachuas, he had occasion one day to visit one of Uncle Billy Plaster's cow camps across the line in Sonora, and stop over night with the boys. Along in the evening Uncle Billy came in from Tombstone, hungry as a bear, and ordered the cook to get him something to eat. The cook demurred, saying he was just out of fresh meat. Billy was furious, and could only exclaim, "You blankety-blankety-blank! Don't let this ever occur again, even if you have to kill our own!" We trust we are giving away no professional secrets, but this was many years ago, and customs may have changed since then.

McKee Rainey, an Arizona pioneer and one of the oldest settlers in Cochise county, died here yesterday after reaching the ripe old age of 89 years. The deceased, with a party of gold hunters, traversed Arizona in '49 headed for California. The party camped at the foot of the Huachuas in that year, and during a rest of one or two days Rainey followed up what is now known as Miller's canyon and saw what he believed to be the finest ranch site in all his travels. After his California expedition he returned and located upon the ranch he first discovered, and lived upon the same until a year ago, when he came here on account of failing health. The deceased was buried this afternoon, and another pioneer has faded away to join the silent majority.—Prospector.

News reached Bisbee this week of the death of Jack Keating in Mexico, where he was at work on his mining claims. Mr. Keating was well known in Bisbee and was formerly associated with L. C. Shattuck in the beer business. He has many friends here who will sincerely mourn his untimely demise.—[Record.]

With impressive ceremonies Arizona's new capitol building was dedicated Monday and at the same time the birth of the territory, in 1863, was celebrated. Large crowds from all parts of the territory were present. There was a parade and speeches by Governor Murphy, Chief Justice Webster Street, and others.

Knocked Out in the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—The House today knocked out the appropriation of $100,000 in the Indian appropriation bill for building irrigation works on the Gila river, Arizona. This appropriation was got into the bill in the Senate after a long and hard fight, and it was considered to be a distinct victory for the irrigationists. When it went back to the House, after the conference, the House refused to accept the amendment by a vote of 53 to 97.

The Los Angeles Times is giving its readers their money's worth and more too. It has begun the distribution, free to its patrons, every Sunday, of a very handsome picture made by the Tonnesen Sisters of Chicago. "The Rose," the first of the series, distributed February 17th, has just been received by this office, and it is a picture which, framed, would be an ornament in any home. The Times proposes to do even more than this for its patrons. Beginning with the first week of March, a handsomely lithographed musical composition will be distributed free to its patrons every week.

A Missouri weekly in a recent issue had this paragraph: "We expected to have a death and marriage to publish this week, but a violent storm prevented the wedding, and, the doctor being sick himself, the patient recovered, and we are accordingly cheated out of both."
